morial bust of Crosby Stuart Noyes was unveiled in the main hallway of the new Municipal Building yesterday afternoon. Officials high in the councils of the national and District governments, and men prominent in the business affairs of the city who packed the corridor and stairways of the building, saw Theodore Prentice Noyes, grandson of Crosby S. Noyes, pull the white ribbons that drew aside the American flag in which the bust was draped, revealing in bronze the features of the man known throughout the United States as an editor and business

The bust was hought with voluntary ontributions of hundreds of friends of the late editor. The movement to proide a permaner memorial started soon ifter Mr. Novembeath, and reached its yesterony when the bust was presented to the District.

In making the presentation, Mr. Ruolph said, in part

'A little more than a year ago there as flashed across the continent from e shores of the Pacific, the news we Crosby Stuart Noyes had passed to his missioner Macfarland and formed the following reward. I was at a large gathering lowing committee to take charge of plans for the erection of the memorial: of men representing the city's best interests that night, the work of the evening had been completed and the members were mingling socially in high spirits. Then came the message that our friend, our foremost citizen, was no more. A hush fell upon the assembly. Men's faces changed instantly from smiles to sadness. For minutes no sound was heard. That was the first tribute paid to the memory of Crosby Stuart Noyes, silent and yet so eloquent.

The Commissioner said in part: "The District government is glad to accept from the citizens of the National Capital this bust of Crosby Stuart Noyes, W. M. Poindexte. It is a fitting memorial of that leader in our civic life whose departure has left an unfilled place. It is appropriate that it should stand in the very entrance of the District Building the center of our civic life. For no one has done more than Mr. Noyes, in public and private station, as a true citizen of this Capital.
